Flying Cows Soar to Another Victory

Sunday, May 19th, 2024

Frederick, MD

On Sunday, the Frederick Flying Cows played against the Connecticut Crusaders at home, in the Woodsboro Bank Arena. Fans flocked in from the Barnyard Bash pre-game festival with painted faces and tons of energy to cheer on the Cows one last time in the regular season. Leading every quarter in points, the Flying Cows continued their winning streak and ended the game at 149-80.

Running the scoreboard each quarter led the Flying Cows to finish with a 69 point lead. Charlie Marquardt led the team with 23 points and 8 assists and Mustapha Traore not far behind with 22 points. Tevin Foster shined with 15 points and 13 assists, putting him at an astonishing 153 assists so far this season.

The Flying Cows will play three games on the road with hopes of clinching the first seed in playoffs. After breezing by the past few games, the Cows will face off against season long rivals the Reading Revel this Thursday at Reading.
